PROPOSALS

For Publishing, by Subscription,

THE COMPLETE WORKS OF

SIR WALTER SCOTT:

With a Biography: being the first American (and only) edition which contains the Author's last additions and illustrations, arranged upon their respective pages.

A COMPLETE and uniform edition of the various productions of the great 'Minstrel of the North,' is a desideratum with the American public. No library is complete without them, and no edition extant is sufficiently compact for such a repository; while the endless number of editions, without any uniformity in size, heretofore published, besides being exceedingly cumbrous, are far too voluminous and expensive to be within the reach of the great majority of readers. The undersigned therefore announce, that they have now in press, and will issue, an edition of the Works of Sir Walter Scott, which will embrace all his Poems, Novels, Histories, Biographies, and Fugitive Compositions, as well as the Biography and Private Correspondence, now in the course of publication in England, under the superintendence of Mr. Lockhart.

1st. In Parts: each Part embracing as much matter as is contained in two volumes of the present editions of the Waverley Novels, which will be put at the unprecedented low price of THIRTY SEVEN AND A HALF CENTS.

2d. Two parts will appear each month; but should the publishers find the work to meet the patronage they anticipate, FOUR PARTS will be issued monthly.

3d. The whole will be completed in seven volumes, or forty eight parts.

The paper on which the above is now printing, has been made expressly for the purpose; the present parts may, therefore, be considered a fair specimen, in every respect, of the whole work; but, should dissatisfaction arise with any subscriber, owing to an inferior article being offered, he may discontinue at any time, and have the amount paid returned.

Note.—The publication of the first volume is deferred until the receipt of the Biography, Private Correspondence, and the New Edition of the Author's Poetical Works, with 'contemporary criticism—various readings—and correspondence with some of the most eminent persons of the time when the Poems first appeared,' now in the course of publication in England.

Volume 1 will be ornamented with an excellent Portrait of Sir Walter Scott.

DAILY PITTSBURGH GAZETTE.

WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON, AUGUST 28, 1833.

"THE FAIR."—The day of holding the Fair was, yesterday, by a resolution of the managers, changed from next Tuesday afternoon until next Wednesday morning—at which time the charitable and liberal are invited to attend.

BEAVER AND SHENANGO CANAL.—In our paper, of the 1st inst., in relation to this improvement, we used the following language—"we are decidedly in favor of its prosecution; our members, we believe, have always advocated it, and if we should possess any influence with our members, hereafter, it shall, whenever necessary, be used in favor of it." In writing this paragraph we took care to express ourselves cautiously—we did not know but that, at an early period, some of our members might have indicated a preference for the Allegheny rout; we, therefore, merely expressed our belief, thus avoiding a positive assertion or statement. Truly, therefore, we were surprized to find the following very rude remark, in the last Mercer Press, in relation to the above expression of our belief, that our members had always favored this improvement:

"One remark more, and we have done with the subject. This remark is necessary to correct a misstatement made by the Pittsburgh Gazette."

We would suppose that the caution with which we had expressed ourselves, on this matter would, in some measure, have disarmed rudeness itself, but we have "reckoned without our host." We are directly accused of a "misstatement," and what evidence is offered upon this subject. The following extract, from the courteous article, in the Mercer paper, will show:

"On pages 386 and 7 of the Journal of the Senate, of the last session, it will be seen that the following motion was made:

'A motion was then made, by Mr. Cunningham and Mr. Sullivan, to amend the (first) section (of the canal bill,) by adding, to the end thereof, as follows: 'and it shall be the further duty of the Canal Commissioners, when the main line of the Pennsylvania Canal shall be completed, as far as Pittsburgh, to proceed on with the same, by the rout heretofore decided on, to wit: by the Beaver, Shenango, and Elk creek rout, to the town of Erie, but no part of the work to be done during the present year; and the sum of $100,000 is hereby appropriated for that purpose, annually, from year to year, after the present year, until the same shall be completed.'

On taking the question, it will be seen, on page 387, that Mr. Hays, the Senator from Pittsburgh, voted against this motion."

Here, then, it appears that Mr. Hays is the member from this county who has not always been favorable to this rout, according to the notions of the editor of the Mercer Press.

When we read this article, we had not the Journals of the Senate before us, nor have we had any conversation with Mr. Hays upon this subject, but we knew that the charge of unfriendliness to this improvement, as to Mr. Hays, was utterly without foundation in fact. We knew that Mr. Hays, as a man of public spirit, was favorable to this work, and we also knew that he had a direct and considerable pecuniary interest in its speedy completion. We were, therefore, satisfied that there must have been some substantial objection to this amendment. Upon a second reading, it seemed manifest that the prospective character of this amendment, and the attempt to appropriate money, for future years, formed unanswerable objections to its adoption.

This morning, we were enabled to get a copy of the journals, and upon reference to the yeas and nays, we find, that in favor of the amendment there were three votes, viz: the mover, the seconder, and Dr. Burden—and, against it, twenty seven votes—nine to one. So that Messrs. Sullivan and Cunningham could muster but one vote in addition to their own, in favor of their amendment; and yet, upon such slender grounds, is Mr. Hays charged with hostility to this improvement, and upon such grounds are we rudely accused of misstatement.

Does the editor of the Mercer Press believe that the other twenty six senators, who voted with Mr. Hays, are all unfriendly to the Beaver and Shenango rout, and that that improvement has only three friends in the Senate? It is impossible that he can think so, and yet he has just as much ground to suspect each of them, as he has to suspect Mr. Hays.

PENNSYLVANIA CANAL.—Upon a reference to the list in the next column, it will be seen that twenty one canal boats arrived at, and fifteen departed from, the Collector's Office, in Allegheny, during the week ending on Saturday last.

FIRE.—The late fire in Allegheny Town did not result as disastrously as was anticipated.—The amount of property consumed was not great. This fire, however, tested and established a fact of no little importance to our friends that side of the river, viz. It proved that the Firemen of Pittsburgh, and that the water from the works in this city, can and will, in case of need, be employed to protect the people and property in Allegheny Town—Both having been zealously engaged and effectually applied on the occasion of the late fire. —Statesman.

A MEETING

Of those Officers of the U. S. Army who served during the late war, was held at M'Kibbin's Hotel, in this city, on the 15th inst., for the purpose of making arrangements to petition Congress for a grant of land. The following gentlemen were appointed a Committee to promote that object, by correspondence, &c. Major J. M. Davis, Major W. Wade, and Lieut. H. Brunot, who are also to report at the next meeting, at the same place, to be held at 2 o'clock, on Thursday the 12th September, 1833.

Pittsburgh, 27th August, 1833.

 Printers favorably disposed will please publish this notice.

A Snag.—The St. Helena Herald states that the steam boat Herald, on her way from New Orleans to Louisville, was struck by a snag, which perforated eighty five feet through her, and prostrated and demolished whatever opposed it. The passengers escaped without injury.

FURTHER EXTRACTS OF FOREIGN NEWS.

The packet ship George Washington has brought to New York, from Liverpool, London papers to the 24th ult. We copy the chief extracts made for the New York papers of yesterday. It appears that the Whig ministry have had a reprieve—on the 19th ult. they carried in the House of Lords the second reading of the Irish Church Temporalities bill, and their friends counted upon the final success of the bill. It is stated positively in a Paris article of the 17th July, that a Spanish army of ten thousand men had crossed the frontier into Portugal. This statement "wants confirmation." Don Pedro's blockade of all the Miguelite ports of Portugal is a matter of some interest for the American trade. General Bourmont's operations against Oporto excited anxious attention. An attempt to take it by storm was expected. We apprehend that the end of the struggle between the two exemplary brothers is not quite so near as Don Pedro's adherents predicted.

The House of Lords, on the 23d of July, went into committee on the Irish Church Temporalities Bill, when the clauses, from twenty to thirty inclusive, were agreed to with verbal amendments.

When the 32d clause was proposed, which provides for the extinction of ten Bishopries in Ireland, the Duke of Wellington moved, as an amendment, that instead of those Bishoprics being abolished by act of Parliament, they should be granted by the King, "if he so minded," in commendam to the Bishops of the different sees to which it is proposed by the bill they shall be annexed. This amendment, the noble Duke said would not affect the principle of the bill, whilst it would remove most of the objections that were entertained against this part of the measure.

Earl Grey considered it would be only attaining the same end by different means, and that it would be more effectual and less liable to uncertainty, if the reduction of the Bishopries were effected by Act of Parliament, rather than at the will of the Crown.

The amendment was supported by the Earl of Wicklow, the Duke of Cumberland, the Archbishop of Canterbury, the Bishop of Exeter, and the Earl of Harrowby, on the ground that it would be less objectionable to the clergy of Ireland, and more conformable to precedent, than the original clause.

The Marquis of Lansdowne, the Archbishop of Dublin, Lord Plunket, and the Lord Chancellor opposed the amendment, which it was contended would be the means of defeating the measure, as it would perhaps leave the decision of the question to other Ministers, or, to another King, who might not be "minded" to carry the reduction into effect.

Earl Rosse spoke generally against the principle of the clause as a violation of the Act of Union.

The Bishop of London expressed himself satisfied with the original clause. Earl Grey, who had not in the first instance expressed any strong objection to the amendment, again addressed their Lordships on the question, and said he considered the amendment would be fatal to the bill.

The Duke of Wellington denied having brought forward the amendment with the intention of defeating the measure.

Their Lordships divided, when there appeared—For the original clause, 90; for the amendment, 76. Majority against the amendment, 14.

The other clauses of the bill, as far as the 48th, inclusive, were then agreed to, and the committee will sit again this day.

Mr. O'Connell.—There is a report in circulation that the Ministry have again made overtures to Mr. O'Connell to take office under it. We have taken some pains to ascertain how far this rumor is well founded, and can state that although it is not true that any offer has been made, a gentleman connected with the government last week requested a member of the House of Commons, who has great influence on the liberal side, to ascertain how Mr. O'Connell felt as to taking office, provided he could be satisfied of the sincerity of the professions made by the liberal portion of the Cabinet with regard to Ireland. Mr. O'Connell's answer had not yet transpired, but it is said by his friends that there ought not be a doubt of his willingness to forego opposition to the government, or even of his readiness to join it, with the view of giving it strength against the Tory faction, provided he could receive such pledges as to Ireland as would enable him to take office without exposing himself to a reproach of having betrayed the interest of his country.—San.

It appears, from an answer of Earl Grey to the Marquis of Londonderry, that Capt. Napier has been struck out of the list of Captains of the Royal Navy; but that gallant person, in addition to the consciousness that he has done his duty nobly in a righteous cause, will find some consolation in the pain and regret which Earl Grey expressed at being compelled to dismiss him the service, and in the compliments which the noble Earl paid to the skill and gallantry he has displayed—compliments to which the Duke of Buckingham assented, and which were, indeed, largely cheered from all parts of the house.

Cholera again in London.—The Morning Herald of the 22d, says—"We regret to find that there is no doubt but that the Cholera has again appeared in the metropolis; though not as yet, we believe, to any alarming extent.

A conflict took place on the 12th, at Coote hill, Ireland, between a party of Orangemen and their opponents, in which four of the latter were killed, and a number on both sides wounded.

LONDON, July 23.—It was confidently stated in the city this morning that a treaty of alliance has been entered into between Lord Palmerston and the Duke de Broglie to recognize Queen Donna Maria, immediately after the Constitutional troops take possession of Lisbon, and that the Ambassadors of her Majesty will be received officially by both governments.

Donna Maria is expected in London, from Paris, in the course of this week, on her way to Portugal.

The Journal du Havre takes the following notice of Captain Napier, who was so successful in capturing Miguel's fleet.

"The English Captain Napier, who has just obtained such a signal and decisive victory over Don Miguel's fleet, resided several years in this country. He was one of the first to associate in one of the enterprizes of iron steam boats to navigate the Seine.

"Captain Napier and family resided at St Adresse, and almost every person in Havre has had occasion to ascertain, in familiar intercourse with him, the extent and variety of his practical knowledge. He is the officer who made his appearance in our Roads a few years since, in command of the British frigate Galatea, to which he had fitted wheels, resembling those of steam boats, which were worked by hand, and propelled his vessel several knots an hour in smooth water."

PORTUGAL.

Marshal Bourmont landed from the George IV. steamer at Villa Cande, and immediately entered upon the command of the Royalist forces besieging Oporto, in number about 21,000 men, and it was said to be his intention to storm the city. In expectation of such an attack being made, the Constitutional troops were kept under arms night and day, as the attack was momentarily expected. The Pedroite forces in Oporto, under the command of Gen. Saldanha, are stated at 14,000.

The latest intelligence from Oporto, is to the 15th, inclusive; but it was expected, that on the 20th, Marshal Bourmont would have time to make his surveys, and commence active operations. The interest of the next arrivals from Oporto, therefore, will be the intelligence of the anticipated attack on the town by the French Marshal.

In the South, the last advices left the Duke of Palmella at Lagos on the 8th of July. They state that he was occupied in a judicial and administrative organization of the province of Algarves. The whole of that part of the South of Portugal is represented as being inclined to the Queen; but the Constitutional troops had not yet entered Beja, which is the next point for occupation.

FALMOUTH, July 21, 11 P. M.—The Sparrow cutter, Lt. Riley, has just arrived here from Portugal; she sailed from Lisbon on the 10th, and from Oporto on the 12th.

Accounts from Lisbon are perfectly silent on the capture of the Miguel fleet; it appears the intelligence had not been made known to the Portuguese Government, therefore we must wait another arrival to learn how the popular feeling manifested itself in the capital on the receipt of that important news. Three thousand Royal troops had been sent across the Tagus, thence to Alvas, in Alentejos, to oppose the constitutional troops in the south of Portugal from penetrating to the interior of that province. From all the principal towns in both the provinces, the Duke of Terceira continues to receive assurances that his arrival with his forces will be hailed with every mark of enthusiasm for the cause, and that numbers only await his approach to enlist and march with him to the borders of the Tagus, there to give, by friendly demonstration, the opportunity for the Lisbonians at once to release themselves from the tyrannous yoke of the usurper, Miguel, by a unanimous and open declaration for the legitimate Queen, Donna Maria II.

GEOLOGICAL SURVEY OF MARYLAND.

We are pleased to notice the return, within a day or two past, of professor Ducatel and the gentlemen who accompanied him on the late expedition to the Alleghany coal region. They describe their visit and examination as full of interest, both personal and public. How far, however, the state, with its yet imperfect internal communication, will be able to avail itself and its people of objects of such interest, is a point upon which these gentlemen of course do not touch—which we think upon with anxiety.

The coal district, which is said to exist in the vicinity of Frederick, in the Parr Spring Ridge, did not come at this time under examination. We understand it will be taken in review very shortly. It would certainly be of advantage to have so valuable a mineral in such near vicinage to us—yet so far as it would, if discovered, tend to increase the amount of the capital of the state in that article it is a matter of small importance. The wealth of the Alleghanies may be said to be inexhaustible—and if the fire of patriotism, supposing it capable of literal combustion, could be kept up only as long as there is coal in Maryland to supply fuel, the third generation from this might burn themselves to death, in the spirit of seventy six, amid the anticipated perpetuity of their institutions.

The region which has been examined, commences on the western slope of Davis' Mountain. This mountain may be defined on the map as a ridge, beginning under that name at a gap in Will's mountain, about seven miles S. W. of Cumberland—and then bounded in Maryland by the Potomac and George's creek—in Virginia, by the New creek and the same Potomac—it runs nearly through both states, abounding, in each, in this valuable deposit—and after it has ceased to be called by that name, and is blended with the masses of Will's mountain, it by no means loses its carboniferous character, for the district of Frostburgh yields, in abundance and excellence, to none.

The Chesapeake and Ohio Canal location was made at a distance, in a direct line of about 5 or 6 miles, from the Frostburgh mine, and surveys for rail roads were extended along the vallies of Jennings' run, and Braddock's run, both tributaries of Will's creek. The distance by the former was ascertained to be 9 miles—by the latter, 7-5. Some idea of the facilities presented there by nature for internal improvement, and of the consequent prospect of our improvement companies, may be formed, when we learn that by the first and longest rout is overcome an elevation of 1,020 feet, by the latter, one of 1,103 feet.

At Westernport, on the Potomac—which will become a sort of depot for the wealth of Dan's mountain, which we have already mentioned—the canal is to pass about a mile from the mines. Some of our enterprizing fellow citizens have been already sagacious enough to avail themselves of the advantages of proprietorship in that neighborhood. How far the coal region extends, it is impossible to say now. It has been traced as far as the banks of the Yohogany, that mingles its waves with the western waters. The examinations, however, were of course principally and particularly made as near home as possible.

We have been unintentionally so diffuse upon this matter of the coal deposit, as to leave us no room for speaking of other interesting matters, which will, we suppose, be embraced in the report to be made this winter to the legislature. The framers of that report have it in their power to be the instruments of a great amount of good to the people of this state—and if the information which we expect will be developed in the communication at the next session, had been only by some chance, or Providence more kind than chance, revealed before, there is no knowing how favorable the effect would have been in the direction and laying out of our internal improvement energies. We fervently hope that the time has not yet passed for the production of that effect, at least of some portion of it—and in endeavoring to further it while we leave those who are already engaged to prosecute and propound their geological inquiries, we shall please ourselves and we hope our readers, by our examination in detail, of the political bearing which the situation and the proper wealth of Maryland is calculated to have. To examine the philosophy of these bearings—to ascertain the mechanism of cause and effect connected with them, and to embrace their certain results of wealth and happiness, will require an extended and patient review—and all the details of the subject. Such details as we ourselves may have, we shall not fail to employ—we look for the rest to the kindness of those who feel the subject to be one of interest, and have made it one of consideration.

From the Boston Journal.

THE SWORD FISH, now exhibiting near the end of Long wharf, in this city, is a great curiosity.—Hitherto I had been a little sceptical in regard to some of the statements about this fish, but I find reason to believe the accounts which have been published. The fish now exhibiting is about 12 feet long, 5 or 6 feet in circumference, and weighs over 600 lbs. The sword is from three to four feet long. It is a hard bony substance, nearly in the shape of a common sword blade, projecting straight forward from the upper jaw: or rather it is the upper jaw itself, greatly elongated, and terminating in a point. The blade of the sword lies with its two edges in a horizontal direction.

The eye of this animal is unlike any thing I have ever before seen. Instead of being situated in a cavity of the skull itself, its socket, or orbit, is moveable. Its shape is like that of a saucer.

The gills are uncommonly capacious; and the several layers are so cellular that they feel like pieces of sponge. A.

The Oswego papers contain an account of a Reverend Jason Lathrop having been discharged from communion with the brethren of his church, in consequence of having committed the "high offence of criminal violation of female chastity." The male members of his church held a meeting, and adopted the following resolution:

Resolved, That we withdraw the hand of fellowship from Elder Jason Lathrop, for the high offence of criminal violation of female chastity, under very aggravating circumstances.

And in order to give further notoriety to this pious Elder's transactions, a council of ministers and lay brethren was held at the meeting house of the first Baptist Church in Oswego, to deliberate on the subject—when the following proceedings were had:

Charge preferred—criminal violation of female chastity, under very aggravating circumstances. —The evidence was abundant, the case a plain one, and we are obliged to say that we no longer hold fellowship with him as a Minister of the gospel.

Resolved, That the result of the council be signed by the moderator and clerk, and published in the Free Press, and that we invite all editors to insert the same in their papers.

This abandoned hypocrite had caused the suspicion of his own wife, and several times induced her to prefer charges against him to the ruling elders of the church. But he uniformly succeeded in establishing his innocence, and rendering the character of his wife odious.

But a few weeks since he separated from his wife, when the most evident developments became manifest.

He had seduced a young woman, a member of his own church, who had received baptism from his own hands, and who had frequently partaken of bread and wine administered by him.

It is stated in New York papers that a broadside of the U. S. ship Delaware, throws 1,800 pounds of metal, being nearly 400 pounds more than a broadside of the British ship Rodney, which the London U. Service Journal is willing to put along side of any two decker in the world. The Delaware is nearly 4 1-4 feet longer than the Rodney, and the Pennsylvania more than 20 feet longer than the Delaware.

"Morning its sweets is flinging."

There is no greater proof of our progress in refinement than the modern style of giving children three or four romantic names. We were quite amused one morning last week, while passing through a street in the southerly part of Boston, by the voice of a mother to her child—"Julia Maria Matilda Chubbuck," said she, "come out of that are dog kennel, you filthy little varment, or I'll break your neck."

The Tariff.—The Charleston Courier gives the following preamble of an act passed by the Legislature of South Carolina in 1808. It contrasts, singularly enough, with the recent sentiments of the majority in that State, on the subject of the Tariff. The act in question was one for the incorporation of a manufacturing Company.

Whereas the establishment and encouragement of domestic manufactures is conducive to the interest of a State, by adding new incentives to industry, and as being the means of disposing to advantage the surplus production of the agriculturist:

And whereas, in the present unexampled state of the world, their establisment in our country is not only expedient but politic in rendering us independent of Foreign nations.

New Discovery.—Mr. Mariner, of New York, has made an important discovery for the use of persons exposed to fire or water. It is a process by which he is enabled to coat over leather, cotton, linen, silk, &c., or any like material, into durable India rubber garments, wholly impervious to water, without being rendered heavy or clumsy. The editor of the New York Advocate says he has examined a coat and pantaloons made of cotton, covered in every part with the India rubber, without a stitch, except in the button holes.—These must be excellent articles for firemen, stage drivers, and travelers, in open wagons. Ladies' and gentlemen's boots and shoes may be made of any of the above named materials, from the coarsest leather or the finest silk. The India rubber cloth may be obtained on application to George Spring, No. 55 Pine street, New York. In making, it is recommended that care be taken to avoid as few pin and needle holes, and seams, as possible.

Different length of the Fingers.—This difference in the length of the fingers serves a thousand purposes, adapting the hand and fingers, as in holding a rod, a switch, a sword, a hammer, a pen, or pencil, engraving tool, &c. in all which a secure hold and freedom of motion are admirably combined.—Nothing is more remarkable, as forming a part of the prospective design, to prepare an instrument fitted for the various uses of human hand, than the manner in which the delicate and moving apparatus of the palm and fingers is guarded. The power with which the hand grasps, as when a sailor lays hold to raise his body to the rigging, would be too great for the texture of mere tendons, nerves, and vessels; they would be crushed, were not every part that bears the pressure defended with a cushion of fat, as elastic as that which we have described in the foot of the horse and the camel. To add to this purely passive defence, there is a muscle which runs across the palm and more especially supports the cushion on its inner edge. It is this muscle which, raising the edge of the palm, adapts it to lave water, forming the cup of Diogenes.—Sir C. Bell's Bridgewater Treatise on the Hand.

Extracts from the Baltimore Prices Current, and Review of the Market, for the week ending Friday evening, August 23.

AMERICAN COTTON GOODS.—The demand for Domestics has been pretty extensive, during the last two weeks, for the Western trade. Purchases, however, are made rather reluctantly, at the advanced rates consequent upon the increased price of cotton.

Howard street FLOUR.—The transactions from stores are to a limited extent only. The principal sales, of fresh ground, have been made at $6,12 1-2 per bbl.; occasional lots, of favorite brands, are taken at a fractional advance—say $6,18 3-4 a $6, 25. A considerable portion of the receipts continues to be branded "fine," and the supplies of "superfine," are consequently limited. The wagon price of superfine was generally $6, at the beginning of the week, but since then, some of the dealers have been receiving at $5,87 1-2 a $6.

SUGARS.—New Orleans are moving slowly, at $9 a 10 for fair to very good qualities. A lot of 10 hhds. St. Croix, was sold at $10,25 a $10,50. A parcel of Porto Rico Sugars was offered at auction at the commencement of the week, but withdrawn for better prices than were offered.

TEAS.—The cargo of the ship Covington, Holbrook, at this port direct from Canton, was brought to the hammer yesterday, and all sold except about 1000 chests Young Hyson. The sale, which was well attended, went off with considerable spirit. The following are the particulars:—

Mechanics' Magazine, and Register of Improvements and Inventions. To the Mechanics of the United States---In this populous and enlightened country, almost every description of persons can obtain knowledge and amusement connected with their peculiar pursuits, through the medium of the Journal or Magazine, especially devoted to their interests. The Theologian, the Farmer, the Philosopher, the Sportsman, and even the Plough Boy, has each his Journal, where he can find a record of the passing events of the day, connected with his peculiar avocations and recreations. Hitherto, the Mechanics (who form a large and most important portion of the community) have had no Journal, to which they could turn, with the certainty of finding that information they desire, no periodical of which they could say: 'This is ours, and for us.' In the hope that the attempt to supply such a want at a price so reasonable as to be within the reach of all, will meet with your active support, the subscriber proposes to publish, on the first day of each month, a Mechanics' Magazine. It will contain a well digested selection of the most useful and interesting articles in the London Mechanics' Magazine, London Register of Arts and Sciences, Repertory of Inventions, Library of Useful Knowledge, Journal of the Franklin Institute, and o her works, connected with the arts and manufactures, published in this country and in Europe, accompanied with numerous and well executed Engravings. Its pages will be open for the communications of all, and especially for those of the practical artisan, to whose interest it will be particularly devoted. The Mechanics' Magazine will contain, also, a due portion of the occurrences of the month, Scientific and Literary Reviews of Books, Anecdotes, Economical Receipts, Reports of the state of Mechanics' Institutions, and other Scientific Societies in this state and other countries. To be published monthly. Each succeeding number will contain 64 pages, handsomely printed, and stitched in a neat cover. Six numbers will form a volume, for which an index and title page will be supplied, and also a Portrait of some distinguished Mechanic, as a Frontispiece. Terms, $3 per annum, in advance.

PROSPECT HILL

PITTSBURGH, Pa.

ON the 1st of July, Mr. DANIEL STONE intends opening, near the City of Pittsburgh, an Institution for the instruction of boys. Its plan is to combine, as far as possible, the peculiar advantages of a domestic and public education.—The pupils, with the principal and assistants, will constitute one family, and be at all times under careful supervision. The Discipline will be mild, but strict, such as a father, solicitous for the welfare of his children, would exercise over them. It is believed that an appeal to reason, and the sense of honor and duty, will generally secure obedience. Coercive measures will, therefore, be adopted only in extreme cases.

The Course of Study will embrace the English, Latin, Greek, and French Languages; Arithmetic, Algebra, and Geometry; Geography and History—Ancient and Modern; Rhetoric, Composition, and Elocution; Natural Philosophy and Chemistry; Penmanship, Orthography, and Reading. Frequent examinations will be held, open to the friends and relations of the youths.

The Mode of Instruction will be thorough and critical, and no subject will be relinquished until fully understood. That the scholar's mind may become vigorous, active, and self-confident—prepared for the stern conflicts of life, and a fearless discharge of its duties, he will be encouraged to reason and decide for himself.

Each student will be required to attend such church as his parent or guardian shall designate.

To preserve health and elasticity of spirits, to check indolence, and promote industry among the students, they will be daily exercised in athletic sports.

Pupils will be admitted between the ages of Six and Sixteen. None can be received for less than one term.

The uniform Dress will consist of a cap, blue roundabout, with metal buttons, and blue pantaloons. Every article of clothing should be marked with the owner's name in full.

The Terms are two hundred dollars a year, payable quarterly in advance. This includes Tuition, Board, Lodging, Washing, Mending, Light, and Fuel.

The Vacations, after the present year, will be three—the 1st, of two weeks, from the 3d Wednesday in April; the 2d, of four weeks, from the 2d Wednesday in August; and one week at Christmas.

The Matron's department will be under the care of Mrs. Reynolds, of this city.

"To raise the genius and to mend the heart;
Shew Virtue her own features;
Vice her own image;
The age and body of the time, his form and pressure."

THE Subscriber has the satisfaction to say to the public, and his friends, that he has connected with his other business, the manufactury of Mill and Cross Cut Saws; and can furnish supplies to merchants and others: he believes them to be equal to any ever used in the western country—the experience of the workmen employed, with the known good qualities of the steel, justifies him in warranting the article to any who may be disposed to patronize western industry.

DOCTOR ROBERT'S
☞WELCH MEDICAMENTUM.☜

FOR the cure of Dyspepsia, Liver Complaints, Jaundice, Cholic, Fever and Ague, Dysentery, Headach, Loss of Appetite, Flatulence, Hypochondria, Hysterics, Dropsical Complaints, and Heartburn, It also prevents all Bilious disorders, and removes habitual Costiveness, Asthma, Strangury, Gravel, Rheumatism, Gout, and Impurities of the Blood.

A person who uses this Medicamentum will not require the use of the lancet, or any means of the healing art. It restores and revives the animal spirits, invigorates the system, removes nervous tremors, obtunds rheumatic and anthritic pains, and prevents their return. It cleanses the stomach of all morbid humors, which cause indigestion, acidities, headach, and lowness of spirits; cures all bilious disorders, and all cholics of the stomach and bowels, almost immediately; inspires cheerfulness; gives comfort to the dropsical; takes away palpitation of the heart; gives circulation to the blood; restores bloom to the sallow or sickly cheek, and plumpness to the meagre habit; purges without pain, and banishes all cause of fever of every kind. It acts on the stomach, that great reservoir of the human system, a diseased state of which causes all diseases. No alteration in the usual habits of life is required, but the abstaining from distilled ardent spirits.

CERTIFICATE,

From Rev. Derick Lansing, D. D., Pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church in Utica.

Utica, Jan. 6, 1830.

To Dr. Hitchcock.—Dear Sir: I have always been one of the number of those who have placed little confidence in nostrums or specifics, and for this reason, although I saw your advertisement of the Welch Medicamentum, I could not bring my mind to consent to use it. My sufferings, from indigestion, during the past summer, were so severe, as materially to affect my comfort, and my capacity for usefulness. I have reason to thank you, sir, that, on hearing of the state of my health, you kindly sent me your Medicamentum. I have taken it faithfully, and with entire success. I have not been visited with one of those turns of distress, which before were weekly periodical, since I began to take your valuable medicine. Could I receive the same relief which I have hitherto experienced, on condition of taking it for life, I should cheerfully comply with such condition. Your's, very truly, D. C. LANSING.

ANTI-DYSPEPTIC ELIXER.

ONE of the most agreeable and efficacious Medicines ever discovered for the permanent cure of those chronic states of derangement of the stomach, constituting that miserable disease called Dyspepsia.

The basis of this Elixer is vegetables, and perfectly innocent in its operation; it destroys that sour state of the stomach, the instant it is taken, and stops the morbid secretion, by giving strength to the muscular fibre of that important organ, by which means the peristaltic motion of the intestines is increased, and the costiveness obviated; a new action is given to the system, which puts an end to a train of distressing nervous sensations.

Another form of the disease in which the Elixer is admirably calculated to relieve, is the decline of fever, where the stomach will not bear the ordinary strengthening medicines indicated in such cases, it has the surprising effect of giving vigor, and restoring the natural secretions of the body, without increasing the febrile state. Not the least danger is to be apprehended from exposure to cold, while under the use of this medicine, nor will it interrupt necessary employment of the patient a single hour.

☞A number of cases of cures performed by the Anti-Dyspeptic Elixer in the vicinity of Pittsburgh can be given.

GEO. W. CARPENTER'S
COMPOUND SYRUP OF LIVERWORT,

A SAFE and Valuable Medicine for Coughs, Spitting of Blood, Consumption, and Liver Complaints.

Most of the medicines made use of for the above diseases are of a stimulating nature, composed generally of Resins and Balsams, in alcoholic solutions, which, although sometimes givingt emporary relief, in almost every instance where they are freely used, aggravate the disease, and reduce the strength of the patient.

This article possesses superior advantages over these preparations, its action being of a tonic, invigorating and strengthening nature, thus overcoming the disease by promoting expectoration, and gradully increasing the strength of the patient, and thus, without being attended with any unpleasant effects: it also agrees with the stomach, in a l cases, and is a pleasant medicine to take.

Machines may be seen at work in the cities of New Orleans, Washington, Philadelphia, New York, Boston, and others at the south and east, at Wheeling, Virginia, and at the saw mill of Messrs. Irwin & Herron, in this city.

Persons desiring to purchase will have the certificates of scientific and practical men who have seen it at work, in the different places in which it has been put up, forwarded to them. They give their opinion as to the great value of the invention. state the time they have seen boards dressed by this machine, and describe the quality of the work as compared with that performed by hand labor.
